The prize winners are naturally the center of attraction, and the criticism of the first prize is not of an altogether pleasing nature, as a rule; for to the chural observer it does not possess nearly the eye catching and artistic qualities of the third prize. The pointing, No. 1888, by Miss Caroline C. Levell, of Birmingham, Alu., and which hangs near the prize winners. Is attracting great attention. This is the design which won the popular vote of the New York public, and represents a young woman riding around the earth with the moon and stars trailing on beliud. This conception is full of life and the coloring such that it cannot but gain instant recognition as a remarkably time piece of work, both from an artistic and advertising standpoint.

It may be well said that so great a collection of original designs have never been brought together before, and that they are certainly arranged in a most pleasing manner and one that the public connot fail

JUNIOR SUFFRAGISTS' MEETING. Its First Open Session Addressed by Distinguished Speakers.

The Junior Equal Suffrage Club, or-ganized by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt at the national suffrage convention held bere in February, and which bears the patriotic distinction of being the only young peo-ple's suffrage association in America, held its first open meeting last night at the Riggs House, with its president, Miss Mabel Diggs, in the chair.

Miss Ahie Stearns, secretary, reported the condition of the club, explained the purpose of its organization, and made a place for more members. He present roll. plea for more members, the present roll numbering thirty active and several hon-orary members, among the latter being Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Rev. Anna Shaw, Mrs. Helen Powell Thompson. Prof. Getsinger, and Mr. John Bryan of New York.

Short addresses, embodying their various views of suffrage, were also made by Senator Peffer, Congressmen Bell and Shafroth, Mrs. Ruth G. Havens, and Mrs. Anne L. Diggs.

Anne L. Diggs.

The youthful president of the juniors evinced none of the embarassment that too frequently hampers the novice, but presided with true parliamentary skill. Her assistant officers were: Miss Alice Kimbull, vice president; Miss Alice Stearns. secretary, and Miss Edith Maddern, treus urer.

Mrs. Tom Thumb on Sunday.

A very interesting and unique entertainment will be given at the Grand Opera House on next Sunday evening, April 26, when Mrs. Gen. Tom Thumb and her bright and intented company, which inchoices Count and Baren Magri, Miss Jennie Quigley, the queen of midgets; Miss Jennie Quigley, the queen of midgets; Miss Annie Nelson and Capt. George Laible. Mine. Trazour and Prof. Van de Grift will be seen in a choice and varied program of recitations, sacreit songs, and a descriptive lecture by Mrs. Gen. Tom Thumb of her stage experiences and of her travels throughout nearly every civilized country on the face of the globe.

This brilliant little lady has contemplated giving this lecture for some time, and has been a number of years in gathering material and putting the lecture together. It will be delivered in this city for the first time. A special feature of the enter tainment will be the appearance of Sig. Liberati, one of the greatest cornetists of modern times, who will give several selections. The prices will be 50 and 25 cents. As this will be the inst appearance of these liestated people in Washington for some time, every one should avail themselves of this opportunity. Mrs. Tom Thumb on Sanday.

A COMPORTABLE GOWN.

Comfort is a strong consideration in this season's gowning business. this season's gowning, hence the num-ber of cotton and linen freeks we see. One of this pattern is a navy blue linen, coarse and open, and so deliciously cool. coarse and open, and so deliciously cool. The skirt is perfectly plain, but has the necessary sweep at the foot. The round bodice is made with a little fullness at the belt, and has a deep voke of white pique, cut in a sharp point and edged with a pretty, graceful scroll, and braided in navy blue. The leg o' mutton sieeves are immensely full and have a pointed cuff of white at the wrist. The stock is of navy blue, built quite high, and topped with a full frill of mousseline de soie With this gown is worn a charming lat, made with a wide brin of stiffened and box-plaited white lace, with a huge how of stiffened lace at the side and a crown massed with cornflowers.

SIT IN A HIGH-BACKED CHAIR.

A REALLY clever woman who wants to be seen at her very best always selects a high-backed chair, as it sets off the face and figure far more effectively than a low chair. If the chair tack is a dull, dark ground it acts like a frame to a woman, often making a moderately more locking one "as pretty as a REALLY clever woman who wants erately good-looking one "as pretty as a picture." A high-backed chair gives an air of repose and dignity which no woman can obtain lounging in one with a low back.

A PRETTY IDEA.

A PRETTY finish for a bedroom where matting is used, whether it be on the floor or in wall treatment, is a hom-boo friete. This is really a fringe of bamboo about three feet wife, which is sold by the yard for the purpose. It is in deep browns and mahogany color, picked out with colored bends, and is a most effective finish for cottage and suburban furnishings.

HAT I like about women's dress just now is its suggestiveness of the attention that is paid to the under side of things," remarked the mascu-ine critic. "I like the pretty lining that one catches a glimpse of under the ripple of a jacket, or the displaced folds of a cloth skirt, and the sik petileout with ts ruffles and lace trimmings, that show very now and again when milady gets nto her carriage, or runs up the steps of a brown stone front. I like the faint sdor of violets that you notice when you sick up her glove, veil or fan, and the lean look of her well-kept hair and hands, for an up-lo-date womanisa daintycreature, despite her "tailor modes" and knickers, hockers, and mannish little affectations. "The goods see her inside, said the Eastern artisan as he finished the interior of his case with the same care that he bestowe upon the exterior, and it is precisely that which I admire about the women acwardays— the evident daintiness of all their be-ougings."

TO MAKE THE BUTTER SWEET.

F THE cooking butter seems rancid when needed for fancy cakes and other delicate cookery it may be restored by melting it in a water both with some freshly burnt and coarsely powdered animal charcoal, which has been thoroughly freed from dust by sifting and straining it through a clean flannel. A better and less troublesom method is to thoroughly wash the batter first with good new milk and next with cold spring water. Butyric seid, on the presence of which rancidity depends, is freely soluble in fresh milk. After washing press the butter with the hands until the water and milk are removed, then lightly squeeze the lump of butter in a towel, put into shape until all liquid is removed and keep in a cool place until used.

SOME DRAPERY TIPS.

T IS well to remember that the draper-ies, curtains, and cushions of a summer house have more to do with its appear house have more to too with its appear-ance than all else. Full curtains, if they are no more than cheese cloth, do more to furnish a room than any other one thing; but you are no longer confined to cheese cloth when economy must rule, for there is a lost of pretty as well as cheap fabries from which to choose, and these inexpensive stuffs, and whate, Madras, cotton crene, dotted mustin, etc., are always a better choice than cheap lace, for which a woman of taste finds no use whatever.

SILKEN UNDER SKIRTS.

THE full skirts of the day require to be so often lifted that a handsome petti-cont is a necessity. The woman who has an old silk skirt may convert it into a stylish petticoat by selding some smart little ruffles of contrassing color and piaked out edge. For service moreen is recommended, but only for a flounce. Alpaca makes a good foundation, with full moreen flounce, which may have feather-bone in the hem if a very full effect is desired; but dresses to be worn with it must always be fitted over it.

FOR VANILLA CAKE.

O NE cupful of sugar, half a cupful of butter, and the yolks of four eggs beaten together; add half a cupful of milk in which half a teaspoonful of soda is dissolved, and one and two-third cupfuls of flour in which a teaspoonful of cream of intriaris mixed. Flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla. It is told in Good Pousekceping, from which this recipe emanates, that if the cake is baked in a square pan, frosted with vanilla frosting, marked in squares, and each square ornamented in squares, and each square ornomente with an English walnut, it is very nice

VALUABLE ROYAL CHINA.

T IS not generally known that the value of the china in Buckingham Palace and in the private apartments at Windsor runs into six figures. In one of the cortidors of the easile there is a magnificent bubl cabinet, containing three unique Rose de Barri vaises, while near at hand is another cabinet containing three vaises, respectively of Sevres, Woreester and crown berny, which are valued at $15,000.

THE PLOUR BARREL.

K EEP the flour, if possible, in a cool, dry, airy room, where the temperature will be equable, not above sixty degrees or sixty five degrees. Like butter, it will absorb odors readily, and for this reason there should be a separate place made for the accommodation of the flour harrel, where it will not be near fish, vegetables, or onlons.
